SHIP SKIS TO RESORTS FOR CONVENIENCE

If you want to avoid the hassle of carrying your ski equipment on the plane and paying airline fees, you may consider shipping your skis to and from resorts. This can be a break-even or money-saving arrangement, depending upon which airline you fly and how many bags you travel with. Equipment is generally shipped FedEx ground.

Peter Glenn Ski & Sports in Orlando can handle the shipping for you and suggests sending them about 10 days ahead to allow for holidays or weather. For information, contact Steve at 407-788-3334.

Be sure to talk with your trip leader and plan ahead by asking the hotel or condo if they will accept and hold skis for a day or two before you arrive.

MEDITERRANEAN CRUISE

PART II

October 2011

Excellent guide in Messina

Last month, I wrote about highlights from the Cruise that included 42 Space Coast members. In addition, around every corner, everyone had their own experiences that made the trip phenomenal and unexpected. Whether it was a surprise scene, cafe, or chat with a local, we all had moments that made you want to stand still and take it in.

Each day, I tried to stand still and think, “Here you are...try to absorb the experience.” Then someone would come by and say that Happy Hour was starting!

Sharing the trip with 42 people meant 42 times as much fun for Clair and me! We really do like to help folks experience this big world around us. We thrive on the excitement of each person’s stories (and seeing the treasures found while shopping). On our last night, we had a farewell dinner, so the group could be together one last time before heading home.

Look over there!

We recognized some of the group for 'outstanding behavior' for various reasons. I will not be able to remember all of the 'honorable mentions,' but here are a few:

- * Joni Reynolds & Pam Townley for being the best 'Bluebirds'
(We deemed them Bluebirds as they had never travelled to Europe.)
- * Cheryl Sullivan & Bob Taylor for sharing their many bottles of wine with everyone
- * Gail Berger for having the cutest outfits
- * Charlene Wilson & Joann Kent for wearing stylish hats
- * Brenda Vowles for not venturing off too far (although being at the bus pick-up in Rome but not getting on the bus when we left causing us to come back and get her was nerve-wracking)
- * Joe Dalton for being the unexpected disco king dancer
- * Joe Dalton & Wayne Roberts for drinking an abundance of beer (which probably helped inspire the dancing)
- * Glenn Wilson for suggesting we skip lunch in Marseilles and head to Cassis directly....good call!
- * Mary Silicas for being the most low-maintenance tripper we have ever known who also gives us good ideas
- * Nichole Bernhardt for accepting the role of 'Future Trip Leader' in training
- * Jim Nicholas for spending twice as much money due to travelling with 3 women (wife, daughter and step-daughter) who all wanted to shop, shop, shop....

And our favorite recognition goes to:

Linda & Ed Barton for taking this cruise to celebrate their 50th Wedding Anniversary....you guys rock and are an inspiration to all of us.

This is Linda and Ed, doing the "half moon"!

Everyone on the cruise was easy and enjoyable to be with. Mark Twain once said: "If you want to see how well you get along with someone, travel with them." I am happy to report that Clair and I have room for any of you on our next trip!

A big thank you to all Med Cruisers for coming on the adventure so that we could see and share it together.

Co-Captains, Clair & Carla

Everyone in...the picture!
